Please Note: If weather is too hot or too cold at our warehouse or your shipping destination, we do not ship your wine unless you contact us and tell us to ship. Temperatures above 80 degrees Fahrenheit or below 10 degrees can damage fine wine. During periods of extreme temperatures we hold your wine until the weather is suitable for shipping. This means that shipment of your wine can be delayed for several months during the summer. If you want us to ship your wine regardless of the weather, please contact our wine department at 214-409-1829 to authorize shipment. If you choose to ship during extreme weather conditions, you assume all responsibility for possible weather-related damage.
